The Elaine Stirling Corporate Storyteller Award for Business Writing
2021 APPLICATION FORM

Definition

Writer, corporate consultant and business communications instructor Elaine Stirling established this award in 2018 to recognize exceptional business writing. This award is open to professionals who have demonstrated the impact that storytelling can have, whether in the form of a business proposal, a successful marketing campaign, a pitch, or any other form of narrative in the workplace.

Value

The Elaine Stirling Corporate Storyteller Award for Business Writing is valued at one prize of $1,500 annually, with up to two runners up of $500 being selected annually.

Eligibility

Applicants must at the time of applying:

- Have successfully completed a minimum of 50 percent of the required course in a career-oriented certificate program at the University of Toronto School of Continuing Studies with a minimum B (70%) average
- Be in good financial standing with the University of Toronto School of Continuing Studies
- Students must be eligible to work in Canada

Selection Criteria

Elaine Stirling created this award to demonstrate the impact that storytelling has in the workplace. This award seeks to recognize and reward examples of business writing that have had demonstrable impact on the applicant's career, a major workplace project, or the applicant's organization.

- Applicants must submit a compelling 1-2 page writing sample, either describing an example of storytelling in the workplace or as a piece of narrative itself.
- Applicants must submit a letter of support from an employer or organization that verifies their achievements.
- Current curriculum vitae containing full educational and professional history must be included.

Submissions will be evaluated based on the demonstrated application of storytelling in the workplace and the impact that it had on the applicant's career or organization.

Application Procedures

Applicants must apply by email to opportunity.scs@utoronto.ca. Completed application forms must be received by June 25, 2021. Please note that applications submitted by mail will not be accepted at this time. The winners will be announced, and the prizes presented in the fall of 2021.
